Headline:
Dry, bright start. Rain and freshening winds this afternoon. Cold.

Today:
A mostly dry, bright start then clouding over this morning. Rain edging northwards later this morning and early afternoon, most persistent over Lochaber with snow on hills. Staying drier over north Highlands. Feeling cold with strengthening southeasterly winds. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Tonight:
Rather cloudy with showery rain and hill snow. There will be some drier, clear interludes in sheltered spots such as Lochaber. Fresh northeasterly winds. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Tuesday:
Rather cloudy start to the day with further showery rain. Drier, brighter weather will extend from north to all parts later in morning, then sunshine and a few afternoon showers. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
The cold, showery theme will continue for the rest of the week. There will be some sunshine with showers falling as snow on hills. Also a frost risk at nights.
